

How to join our round-the-world paper doll chain

Lonely Planet Kids is creating an enormous paper chain representing children from around the world! We're encouraging kids from all corners of the globe to draw themselves and send their paper portraits back to us. A team of cutting and glueing experts will then put the paper chain together.

Here's how to join in:

- Choose your template, draw yourself on one side and colour it in
- Add your first name, age and the country you live in to the same side
- Scan your completed template and email to kids@lonelyplanet.com

Or send it in the post to:
